Double Lightning Thrust Carries Invaders to Rouen; Italy Indicates German Victory To Be Signal.

By The Associated Press.

The Germans struck with at least 1,800,000 men in a tightening semi-circle about Paris and raced panzer divisions to a region but 35 miles northwest of Paris in a double lightning thrust yesterday as Generalissimo Weygand proclaimed the Battle of France in its "last quarter of an hour."

A double tank column, rampaging through the French west flank, made spectacular dashes into the suburbs of Rouen and toward Gisors, 35 miles northwest of Paris.

a man hates to drop his life insurance. And your insurance company doesn't like it, either.

The company, when it takes in a new policyholder who doesn't stick, is in much the same position as a landlord who makes improvements for his tenants-only to have them move out soon afterwards.

On the other hand, some tenants have good reasons for moving. And so do some policyholders have good reasons for dropping their life insurance.

For instance, a man may buy insurance to protect his aged mother. If the mother dies, he may want to drop the policy. In most cases, however, he would be much better off if he kept it-refitting it to meet his present or prospective needs.

Or, a man may take out a policy because he is taking financial risks in his business. But if he stops taking these risks he may no longer want that protection. So he allows the policy

Many lapses are caused by unavoidable

Letters Deluge Editor, Delaying Announcement of Winners.

This is the sad story of the Father's Day contest editor and his solemn promise to announce the winners on June 9 which, as everybody knows, was yesterday.

That promise was made two weeks ago when he expected a normal response to the question: Why I think my father is the best father a son or daughter could have."

But he got more than he bargained for. Thousands of sons and daughters turned loose a flood of letters which swamped not only the editor, but half-a-dozen judges.

In fact, there are so many letters he hasn't been able to count all of them yet.

So yesterday, rather than anounce the winners, he printed a picture showing four of his assist-ants working at a desk heaped high with the sentiments of boys and girls, men and women, throughout the southeast.

They were working merely on the mail of the past two days, a matter of several hundred re-The letters were sent contestants 12 years of age and under, between 13 and 18 years, between 19 and 25 years, and over 25 years.

Our Greatest Fear

Seven years ago a great President said the greatest thing this nation had to fear was fear. Today, under different circumstances, he might say the same thing again-our greatest fear is the fear of doing something-anything-to save the civilization under which we live and have grown rich. If we are indeed that much afraid, then probably we should say this civilization should not live. For it will

The time has come for the United States to say that Hitler shall not win; that the mighty strength of the nation is behind the Allies; that the people of this country recognize the sham that is embodied in declarations of neutrality; that each of these 48 states eschews the trembling fears of the pacifists and recognizes the grave peril of a Hitler victory.

It is said by the quavering fat men that it is too late, that the issue will be decided before the weight of this country can be thrown into the balance. Would that fact lessen the terrific danger in which this country now stands? Would not the moral effect of this country's action for the Allies be even greater than the few planes we today rush overseas? Is it thought for the minute that Mussolini would not stay his hand if confronted with the fact of American power?

Every American plane sent to France now means many times that number of German planes down in a swirl of smoke and flame, never again to drop bombs into the great cities of France and England, never again to machine-gun refugees on the open roads. The quavering fat men say that the dispatch of planes now in the service of the United States army would dangerously weaken defenses here. Yet they will admit that most of these planes already are obsolete and must be replaced for war service by new models embodying the lessons learned in Europe.

This shameful quibbling may seal the death of western civilization, but yet they cavil, content to risk the fate of the people while they sit in helpless confusion, using sarcasm to belabor realists-their last weapon now that the logic of their sham has tumbled about their heads in the shriek of bombs across the seas.

The issue simply is this: Hitler is at war with the United States, and everything for which this country stands; everything that is fine and decent in this world. Thus far, this country has refused to acknowledge that fact, just as the quavering fat men of England refused to acknowledge it as late as a year ago If this country recognizes that fact of war now, and turns the industrial machine to the needs of the Allies, then it is probable that Hitler can be beaten.

If it does not, then this country fights, and fights alone, at some time in the not far distant future. Or the people live under Hitler's

The issue is more grave than that this country faced in the War Between the States. It has been reiterated here time and time again for several years, that fateful decisions would have to be made and made quickly in just such an eventuality. They should have been thought through years ago. That they were not is tragic. The time now has come for action. Quick action and forceful action. Each day's delay deepens immeasurably the danger, not to England and France alone, but to the United States. How long will we stand by?

Washington, removing the national defense from a pigeonhole, is a majestic sight.

Whistling in the Dark

And so, through the inspired voice of its leading editorial writer, Italy, as represented by Benito Mussolini, warns the United States not to give any aid or comfort to the Allies, for fear of arousing the awful displeasure of

It is truly remarkable to what heights of folly carefully cultivated self-delusion can lift a human individual. Just because he has a big chin and a good speaking voice, just because he has acquired the knack of arousing hotheaded enthusiasm from crowds of students, just because Italian aviators have dropped bombs on Spanish cities and the naked, unarmed savages of Ethiopia, Il Duce thinks the United States of America will tremble at his frown and shape her affairs to placate

In one view, the threat which appeared in Giornale D'Italia should be valuable to the United States. For it constitutes the final, convincing proof that, if the Allies go down to defeat, Germany and her minor satellite, Italy, contemplate aggressive action in the Americas. Unless they are thinking such plans, there could have been no basis for the "warn-

Thus, if the American people can see the plain handwriting on the wall, they should know, today, that they are definitely listed among the proposed victims of totalitarian, world-wide blitzkrieg.

It was, of course, an example of extreme effrontery for Italy to dream, for one moment, that any threats she might make against this country could influence, in one iota, the policy of the United States. Neither in the desired "scaring off" respect, nor even in further arousing American resentment, can the editorial by Virginio Gayda change American policy toward Europe. This country will follow whatever course seems to it to be the best and wisest and. once that course has been decided, not all the threats nor all the guns, nor all the planes nor all the treachery of any power in the world will serve to swerve it from its purpose.

What of the Poles?

The Polish Information Center in this country is arguing now, with some justification, that the events of the past month throw an entirely different light upon the resistance of the Polish army than the usual concept formed before the true power of the German army was revealed.

The Poles assert the organized resistance of their army lasted from September 1 to October 6, and that the last battles were fought as late as Nevember 14. The army had only a limited number of light tanks, no heavy tanks, and only one brigade of motorized troops in comparison with 10 "Panzer" divisions; 22 infantry divisions against 73 German infantry divisions used in Poland. The Poles also were the first to use field guns against tanks, a lesson which the French apparently were quick to utilize in stopping the break-through along the Meuse.

Until the Germans attacked through Holland and Belgium, few realized the tremendous striking power of the mechanized Nazi forces, and in the light of this experience, the record of the Polish army indeed must be revised. The Poles claim, justly, that they had no little Maginot line or other fortifications to slow the advance of the Germans. In all fairness, it must be pointed out that the defense power of a little Maginot line has not as yet been adequately tested because of the criminal inadequacy of the French army of General Corap and the still unexplained actions of the high command of the Belgian army. Both played a major part in permitting the utilization of the smashing might of the Nazi troops. Otherwise the story might have been different-but that is water over the dam.

Whatever the answer in the Lowlands campaign, it is evident we must revise our concept of the Polish campaign, paying due honor to the bravery of the Polish troops, unprepared as they were, and to the commanding officers of the units. The record of the general staff still must be left for later answer.

Editorial of the Day

LET'S GET READY TO ACT. (From the Chicago Daily News.)

The resolution now before congress re-emphasizing the Monroe Doctrine is good as far as it goes, but it does not go far enough. Sponsored by Senator Pittman and Representative Bloom, chairmen, respectively, of the senate and house committees on foreign affairs, it also has the indorsement of Secretary Hull. It says, in short, that the United States will not "recognize" or "acquiesce in" the transfer of any territory in this hemisphere from one non-American state to another. It adds that if any such transfer is attempted, the United States will immediately "consult" with the 21 American republics regarding appropriate action. We doubt if such a resolution will seriously frighten Germany or Japan. There have been a number of matters in the last few years that we have not acquiesced in, and of annexations that we have not recognized, but the aggressors have gone right ahead, despite our notes and protests, and find themselves no worse off. As for consulting, we have consulted repeatedly-and where has it got us? If Hitler crushes France and Britain, there will be only one way for us to keep him out of the French, British and Dutch possessions over here. Notes will not do it. Nonrecognition and nonacquiescence will not do it. Consultation will not do it. We shall have to take them over ourselves-and do it first. The occupation of strategic islands and territories requires adequate military expeditions planned in advance. The time to organize those expeditions, plan them in detail, look to their equipment, and get ready the decisions that will them into action at a moment's notice, is not next month or next year, but now,

THE CAPITAL PARADE

BY JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

TAXES BECOME GOOD POLITICS Like all the best political stories, the story behind the increase in the national defense tax bill is partly ludicrous and partly stirring. The joke is on the surface, being the spectacle of Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, encouraging his colleagues to rebellion in one breath, and in the next solemnly warning the house leaders and treasury authorities, "I can't hold them; I just can't hold my boys." The original tax bill was a makeshift. Having been wrung from the administration by the extraordinary phenomenon of American citizens deluging the government with demands for higher taxes, it still contained traces of the original administration theory that taxes in an election year were sure political poison. The general idea was to present something as painless as possible, shove it through congress rapidly, and then take credit for great political bravery.

Even before Pat Harrison got to work, Senator Robert M. La-Follette, of Wisconsin; Senator Harry F. Byrd, of Virginia, and one or two other members of the senate finance committee had decided that the bill was a fraud. At the very first committee meeting, they protested bitterly against it, calling for really radical revision of the tax structure, a broadened income tax base, and surtaxes especially aimed at the fruitful field of $10,000 to $50,000 incomes. Harrison's ideas coincided with those of Byrne and La Follette. Seeing his chance, he quietly put his influence behind their movement. Before long the radical revisionists composed a committee majority and the senate at large had begun to growl and snap.

It was then that Harrison went to Chairman Robert L. Doughton, of the house ways and means committee, and to Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr. to announce that he could not "hold nem." Doughton had been extremely reluctant to attempt any sort of tax bill. He greatly disliked the notion of radical tax revision at this session, but the thought of radical revision in the senate, followed by a long conference struggle between senate and house, was even more repugnant to him. Consequently, he agreed to go along. Morgenthau also approved, and in the last days Doughton's committee has been working hard, with Harrison acting as a sort of senate observer, on a bill planned on radical revision lines.

ON ELECTION EVE What is stirring about the story is the intimation of the patriotism and good sense of the average American, without whose ever-increasing insistence on a tax program the radical revisionists could never have succeeded. La Follette, for example, has been preaching a broadened income tax base for the last ten years, always without success because of congress' fear of the political consequences. Now, on the very eve of the presidential election, 2,000,000 or more people are to be added to the list of taxpayers—and all because the congress is convinced that taxes have suddenly become good politics.

WAR PROFITS The tax story is by no means at an end, either. In a remarkable speech, some days ago, Senator Byrd proposed a program of national defense expenditures far higher than the President has asked, accompanied by still more daring taxes and a 10 per cent cut in government expenditures except those for defense. Shortly thereafter, without mentioning the Virginian, the White House indicated all government expenditures ought to be cut 10 per cent wherever possible. Now Byrd is going to take the President at his word, offering an amendment to the tax bill making the 10 per cent cut mandatory in all items except defense and the interest on the public debt. The temper of the times is such, furthermore, that little as the administration may like the Byrd amendment, it will be extremely hard to resist.

Then, too, treasury and federal reserve officials and New Dealers close to the White House are beginning to murmur a little about the new tax plans. In the next session they had always expected to introduce an excess profits tax, aimed at the large profits from rearmament. There was considerable pressure on Harrison and Doughton to include excess profits taxes in the program now before ongress, but they refused on the ground that there was no time to write a good bill of such complex character.

It is quite possible, however, that the President will suddenly demand an excess profits tax, taking a fling at war profiteers, before the summer adjournment. And if he restrains his natural impulse now but is re-elected, he will certainly follow the original scheme to ask for an excess profits tax next January.

They are not only beginning to show courage enough not to hange titles of well known books and plays-but they are beginning to use words in titles which hereofore they have feared and shun-

Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer threw out its chest and decided not to change the title of the Joan Crawford-Fredric March production, Susan and God." It was a hit inder that title on the stage, so they're hoping it will be a hit on the screen, God-willing

It is admitted that the title may e a bit confusing to those movie goers who haven't kept up with the names of stage shows. "Susan and God" may sound to some like a religious movie - or it might even sound a bit irreligious!

What Is Is,

Just for the record-and to fulfill this column's mission as a purveyor of vital information to ticket-buyers - let it be said that Susan and God" is really not reigious and on the other hand it is not disrespectful of religion or God. It pokes fun at those cults in the World War she knitted which preach Pollyanna doctrines and become passing fads of the idle, fidgety fair sex. Joan Crawford plays Susan who has jut become imbued with the spirit of a new "movement" which she hopes to spread to bring sunshine and light into the lives of her erring friends, a flighty, frivolous group of two-timing "society" girls and oys. Susan and her new god play havoc with the loves of the fast set on Long Island. Fredric March is the long-suffering husband. The title "Susan and God" is quite likely to cause M-G-M a little trouble when the picture plays needed "for target practice and in Great Britain, if it ever does, Hitler permitting. In England, a law forbids mention of the Diety in titles or text. There are several other foreign countries which have similar restrictions,

FAIR ENOUGH

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Challenge NEW YORK, June 9.—The underworld Taken Up gorillas of the la-bor movement took a defiant stand this week in the Louisville convention of the Stagehands and Movie Employes' Union, but their challenge was taken up in New York by the Ladies' Garment Workers' Union as one of the conditions of their return to the American Federation of Labor. The garment workers thus have begun a fight against the reorganized Capone and Nitti mob and other criminals in or-ganized labor, and David Dubintheir president, will deserve credit for the eventual victory The victory will be won probably at this year's convention of the AFL and it will be an easy victory, for rank-and-file opinion in the unions is bitterly and violently rebellious against the brutality and larceny of such racketeers, brothel-keepers and stiek-up men as received the indorsement of the vie union in Louisville.

It is unfortunate that William Green, whom labor honored with position of public trust, played the role of a Lord Jim in this shameful situation, for just a little courage would have carried him through with great credit. It really takes no great bravery in a man in Green's position to fight the racketeers.

Instead of denouncing the criminals at their own meeting in Louisville Green dodged it, and Dubinsky accepted the battle in the convention of the garment workers with a stipulation that the hoodlums of the underworld and other union exploiters of labor must be thrown out.

Mr. Green still hedged in a letter to Du-Dodging binsky, granting the other conditions on which the garment workers insisted, for in that letter he avoided mention of the issue of the criminal invasion of the unions. ally, however, he did say that labor can invite public support only when it is honest in its deal-But even then he modified his declaration by observing hat there are racketeers in other fields, which has nothing to do with the case.

The truth is that Mr. Green's own hands are not clean. He play ed ball with the crooked unioneer and, in return for their support in the internal politics of the AFL and in the fight with the CIO, became an apologist for men who are a disgrace to the labor movement and have no more right to sit in labor's councils than Joseph Stalin has to sit in the College of Cardinals. He knew that they were crooked and knew that the rank and file were suffering from their thefts, extortions and oppressions, but left it to Dubinsky and the garment workers to show a decent, militant determination to do the obvious thing.

The garment workers will map their own campaign to delouse the AFL, but one of the men who are unfit and must be thrown out is George Browne, the president of the Stagehands and Movie Employes, who are 35,000 strong. ONE WORD MORE

BY PHILIP WELTNER.

During the absence of Ralph McGill on vacation his column will be written, from time to time, by guest columnists. Philip Weltner, wellknown Atlanta attorney and housing authority, acts in that role today.

THE LAST TILE The last tile has been placed on the 64 buildings which make up the 630 dwelling units in Clark Howell Homes. Nearly 200 of these units will be ready during July. The outward trek from this area which began April 1, 1939, will then turn. The families who had to leave because their homes were to be torn down will be coming back. What a neighborhood it used to be! Only statistics are left to record for us that unsightly past. Over 60 per cent of the dwellings were either unfit for occupancy or in need of major repairs. Forty-seven per cent had no private toilet or bath. And yet, these people deserve better. The average rent paid per dwelling unit was over $12 per month, which did not include water, lights, fuel or heat. It all goes to prove that there is no money in housing poor families well; there is money in housing them ill. What a transformation is taking place under our very eyes. A full half is yet to be disclosed. Now one sees the bare buildings. Then there will be a beautifully landscaped neighborhood, with a full seven acres of play area and a community house providing scope for grown-ups and children.

ROUGH ON CHILDREN Truth is that the section used to be pretty rough on childhood. Naturally, boys and girls paid the community back in kind. Delinquency is never an accident and seldom stems from downright meanness. Someone remarked about boys in a particular section: "They are a tough lot." Mostly it is a case of natural spirits finding the easiest out. In Clark Howell Homes young America can give scope to its enthusiasms in a normal, healthy way.

The man on the street may sometimes wonder why he and his fellow Americans are building neighborhoods like this. Why erect comfortable, decent homes and rent them for less than is necessary to pay back their dollar cost? Well, the people who occupy them are unable to pay more. If such is a fact, are they entitled to better homes than they can afford? The fact is that the nation cannot afford to allow its citizens to live in slums because it costs more to keep slums than to clear them. Decent housing is essential to national fitness.

A SYMBOL OF TOMORROW It may happen, not many months hence, that Americans will be called to the colors. When we go we shall not risk our lives for the glory of some kingly house, or even to rescue another people -we shall only respond to protect America; we shall fight to preserve our freedom. High and low, rich and poor will share equally in the struggle. They will offer their very lives and do so without distinction of race, creed or condition. If all enlist to preserve America, none should be condemned to conditions which mockery of liberty. Therefore, the slums must go. Clark Howell Homes are a symbol of the America of tomorrow, Atlanta is being rebuilt. Six projects, in what were that many slum areas, are under construction. By the end of 1941 the whole program will be an accomplished fact. Techwood and University Homes, finished in 1936, have also come under the management of Atlanta's housing authority, thus ultimately providing 4,811 dwelling units for Atlanta's low income families. What Techwood is, compared with the hovels which once overlooked Techwood Drive so will be Atlanta's six new rehousing projects.

When you ride out Techwood drive, notice the throng of children. "Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" has taken on real meaning in terms of real people. May America always face forward

If He Uses Oxen To Pull a Wagon, You Don't Expect Him To Have Modern Plumbing

BY ROBERT QUILLEN.

The advantage of the efficiency expert is that he sees old things with new eyes. When he studies the methods of operating a store or factory, he has the advantage of starting from scratch. Experienced and highly-trained workers are doing their best to get results, but they are doing it in contented routine. They use the method that seems right because they are familiar with it. Any change seems wrong, and one who refuses to conform to established practices is fired. The efficiency expert, having no regard for precedent and no concern except to find faults and suggest improvements, is like an explorer who attempts to find the best route across a continent after others have discovered all the danger spots and tried the

That was precisely the advantage enjoyed by Hitler and his experts. They were building from the ground up, with old bad examples to warn and guide them. They could approach every problem, not by saying "How is this done?" but by asking themselves: "What is the best way to do this?"

While other military men were following precedents, they thought only of effectiveness. While others thought in terms of the last war, they planned another war of a new kind. Having no concern but efficiency, they were free of all hampering restraints. with the attainment of perfection. They simply built to an ideal.

for a purpose, without regard for cost or personal feelings. They are not supermen. They surpassed others simply because they did their utmost under ideal conditions. experience had shown that machineguns scored hits without down-Making gas tanks leak-proof was an obvious thing to do, for hundreds of combat planes had been forced down or set afire by leaking tanks. Using armor on planes was an obvious thing to do, for centuries of experience had proved its effectiveness. Making fast and heavy tanks protected by thick armor was an obvious thing to do; for tanks had proved their effectiveness, yet little guns had stopped those without armor. Any man who studies these matters should have thought of all these improvements. Since our experts did not, but waited for Germans to show the way, we must somehow find out whether love of precedent has kept our other defenses equally behind-the-times and ineffective. There's a charm about a really well-edited weekly newspaper that a city-raised chap can't get. They don't bother about Hitler or Congress or the rise or fall of Colossal Motors preferred.

But they do tell about the second eldest Jones boy coming home from Georgia Tech with an engineer's degree and a good job in sight. Everybody in the county knows that Jones boy. He was a rip-snortin' trouble-maker from the time he got into long pants, but he was smart. All the oldtimers remember how they pre-dicted that youngster would get somewhere—if he didn't get hanged first.

THE CRUCIAL HOUR-France fought a life or death battle last night as the advanced motorized units of Hitler's army pushed within 35 miles of Paris from the north and northwest and extended its front to within 60 miles northeast of the French capital. The most successful advance by Germans was made by the western prong of a three-point attack along the Somme-Aisne front. Nazi armored units clearing the way for 40 divisions striking the Breteuil-Nyon sector reached a point east of Beauvais (1) while other motorized units reached the suburbs of White arrows with numbers of divisions inserted indicate approximate points of German attacks. Another 40 divisions were pressing forward in the Chateau Porgien-Chesne sector. The French high command admitted the Germans gained footholds within shelling distance of Paris. The southern suburbs of Paris were bombed late yesterday.

Your Own Horoscope for Today

By ALICE DENTON JENNINGS, Noted Atlanta Chirologist-

between:

March 21 and April 19 (ARIES)

—There is apt to be too much talking, too fast driving, and bickerings today previous to 12:12 noon. Healed arguments will. not pay, and caution in conferences, trading, travel and dealings with close relatives should be in order.

April 20 and May 20 (TAURUS)

—Previous to 10:09 a, m. favors affairs that require good humore, affability and pleasantness. After 10:09 a, m. favors social affairs, dealings with women, shopping for things of beauty and adornment.

May 21 and June 20 (GEMINI)—Public affairs or dealings with the public where finances are involved, contracts that are to be signed, or where it is necessary to use diplomacy, are especially favored today until 3:31 p. m.

June 21 and July 22 (CAN-GER)—Avoid hasty and irregular action between 12:28 noon and 3:18 p. m. and pursue interests that do not call for a great deal of diplomacy. Between 3:18 p. m. and 10:45 p. m. avoid. too radical, eccentric or dictatorial speech, or actions.

centric or dictatorial speech, or actions.

July 23 and August 22 (LEO)—
Today is filled with various influences which will bring you mixed feelings—at times you will be on the beights, then the pendulem can swing you just as far in reverse.

August 23 and September 22 (ViRGO)—The better part of the day will be before 11:10 a. m. when affairs can be attended to with pleasantness. affairs around the home and those of a social nature are favored. Between 11:10 and 1:46 p. m. give yourself time to think twice before you act or enter into new deals, for others may have an unterior motive in approaching you.

September 23 and October 22 (LIBRA)—Are you planning on advertising your wares. If so, whether it is strictly advertising or trying to sell yourself, (CAPRICORN)—Several favorable influences culminate during the day and until 7:27 p. m. making today favorable for dealings with people. After 7:27 p. m. complications, misunderstandings and unusual dealings with loved ones may occur. What today means to plan to do it today. If you are wanting to accomplish something that others think is too eccentric for practical use—now is your day.

eccentric for practical use—now is your day.

October 23 and November 20 (SCORPIO)—Decisions made to-day may be a deciding influence on your future. Erraticism, high tension, are in order, as you will profit more by taking the "path of least resistance." That is, do not make a change or enter into some new agreement unless it comes about naturally. November 21 and December 21 (SAGITTARIUS)—A feeling of recklessness is likely to prevail previous to 10:50 a, m. at which time you will need to use sound common sense to avoid conflicts, accidents and a feeling of feverishness.

December 22 and January 19 dealings with loved ones may occur.

January 20 and February 18

(AQUARIUS)—Previous to 1:11

p. m. you should have the ability to concentrate on the work at hand with a feeling of peace towards those around you.

Dealings with women and their needs and domestic affairs should be beneficial.

February 19 and March 20 (PisCES)—Before 3:30 p. m. is not an auspicious time for work in steel, firearms or for obtaining your desires from who who are aggressive and determined.

Red Cross Aid Is Called Great Need of Allies

$100,000 Asked, But Atlanta Contributions Total Only $45,321.

Your contribuitions to the Red Cross war relief fund is the most effective aid you can give the Allies, P. C. McDuffie, general chairman of the $100,000 drive in Atlanta, declared yesterday as he appealed again to Atlantans to support the drive here.

Less than half of Atlanta's quota has been raised, contributions through Saturday totaling

This week has been set aside as Red Cross week by proclamation of Mayor Hartsfield, and beginning tomorrow an army of volunteer workers—Red Cross nurses and Gray mothers—will be stationed in downtown office buildings, theaters, hotels and department stores to take contributions.

Toll of Children. Drive officials are anxious to send Atlanta "over the top" this

McDuffie's statement follows: "If war was raging in Atlanta and a ruthless invader was taking an appalling toll of our mothers, children and wives, with millions of refugees crying for food, shelter and medical care, we might be tempted to quit fighting to save this horrible slaughter and suffer-

Tremendous Burden. "The Red Cross is making a desperate effort to relieve the people of France of this tremendous burden placed upon them. Its un-dertaking is not only an errand of mercy, but one that may contribute more to their success than to Emory University hospital and planes and munitions.

"Because we have been warned "Because we have been warned of propaganda, Atlanta has not taken seriously the stories of undreamed of hardships and suffering of refugees. If you could know the truth of lost children, herded into pens; old people, men herded into pens; old p herded into pens; old people, men and women, dying of hardships and suffering untold miseries—if Atlanta knew that pitiful story it would not be lagging behind other cities in our Red Cross campaign."

South Georgia was treated at Emory for lacerations and later dismissed.

Solons Attend Services for Late House Speaker Pro Tem.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.
MOULTRIE, Ga., June 9.—All south Georgia joined today in a final tribute to Speaker Pro Tem John C. Parker of the state house of representatives during funeral services which were attended by a large delegation of members of the general assembly, headed by Speaker Roy V. Harris. Mr. Parker, young Moultrie law-yer, died in an Atlanta hospital yesterday, following an operation which he underwent in an effort to save a leg, injured in an auto-mobile accident two years ago, an accident which already had cost him his right arm.

The Rev. R. C. Gresham, of this city, and the Rev. J. C. Anderson, of Fitzgerald, a cousin of Mrs. officiated at today's services, which were held in the First Baptist church. Dr. Gresham paid high tribute to the memory of Mr. Parker, crediting his remarkable courage for the last two years of

"If Mr. Parker had not been endowed with great courage he would have succumbed to the accident two years ago," the pastor said. "It was this courage only that carried him on for two years, and it was this courage which he leaves as a heritage to his fellow legislators; so that they may carry on for him in their effort to solve the problems of state."

In addition to Speaker Harris and about 20 memoers of the house, the senate was represented by a committee headed by Senator Adie Burden, of Albany, upper branch floor leader. Members of the Moultrie Bar Association formed a second honorary escort.

Mr. Parker had represented Colquitt county in the lower house for more than 10 years. He served since 1937 as speaker pro tem, pre-siding over the body during some of its stormiest sessions in recent

Only 5 Per Cent Opposed to Proposal Aimed at Ex-Atlantan Thwarting Fifth Column Activities in U.S., Gallup Survey Discloses

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP, Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

Copyright, 1940, by American Institute of Public Opinion. All rights reserved. PRINCETON, N. J., June 9.—If it were left to the average American, every person living in the United States today who is not a itizen of this country would be required to register with the government, according to overwhelming sentiment in a nation-wide survey by the American Institute of Public Opinion.

At the present time, non-citizens, once they have satisfied the requirements of the immigration authorities, are free to come and go within the United States as they please.

Under Attorney General Robert H. Jackson, the Department of Justice has asked congress to require every non-citizen to register Justice has asked congress to require every non-citizen to register with the government and to notify the authorities whenever he changed his address.

The Rev. Father Reilly will officiate and burial will be in West View cemetery under the direction erans of the World War, and its changed his address.

Voters in the Institute survey were 19 to 1 in favor of such a proposal. The Institute asked a cross-section of men and women in out an opinion on the question.

The survey found no evidence of an "alien hysteria" among the voters. On the contrary, their comments indicated time and again that "we merely ought to know who our aliens are" and that "we ought to keep our eyes open."

Voters frequently declare that there will be much less chance of fifth-column" activities in America if the government keeps tab on the more than 3,600,000 individuals here who have never sworn allegiance to the United States.

The largest single groups of non-citizens in the United States today, according to the figures of the United States Immigration Service, are the Italians, with approximately 700,000, the Poles, numbering about 500,000, and the Germans, with about 365,000.

In today's survey the Institute found the greatest demand for registration of non-citizens in the south and west. The vote by sections

Bringing Up Father ...

He's not one to bring up the subject himself... Shucks! it would never occur to him! He doesn't expect anybody to think about him! He just sort of goes along, day after day, thinking about YOU and your interests... planning for you... dreaming over your successes... building for your future. It's a pretty nice idea to turn the tables once in a while...so we're bringing up Father to your attention NOW...in plenty of time for you to plan a surprise for him... to concentrate on him, to the exclusion of everything and everybody, for just one day... Sunday, June 16th. We want to help you make Father's Day mean something very real and very sweet to your Dad.

She's Expert in 'Man-Killing' Roles; Fast on Trigger, Says Bette's Director It Difficult To

BY HAROLD HEFFERNAN

HOLLYWOOD, June 9 .- The make-believers at work:

Bette Davis has killed off a dozen or more tormenting men in her eight years before the sound cameras and always, to our knowledge, she's made a nice clean job of each victim. Nothing messy about Bette's killings. We were especially happy, therefore, when we entered stage 14 at Warner Brothers, where "the is now being remade, and found Bette right on the point of adding another notch to her revolver. It was close to noon and lunch, but plenty of time, Direc-tor Willie Wyler assured us, for Bette to finish off her latest victim in a manner acceptable to screen fans.

"Bette's fast on the trigger," cracked Wyler. "And what's more, she's hungry. We'll have this scene in the can with three takes or less—you just watch and see."
It was a beautiful setting, and it spelled anything except tragedy. The night was tropical and brilliant moonlight had been carefully simulated by painting the shad-ows with lampblack—that to give the necessary black and white effect. Suppose the men are scoundrels and unworthy of wom-en's devotion. Forget them and lavish your devotion on those of your own sex. No use to spoil your Who Finds Eating a Diversion life by scolding scoundrels. Skip 'em and pretend that they aren't existent. The men won't mind: you'll be infinitely happier, and you won't have to fret about the marriage laws.

> Second, maybe there is a small amount of decency in the world, but you can get immeasurable comfort in the thought that you are contributing your small bit, setting a good example to those who see you and going to bed nightly with a clear conscience. A tiny candle flame of faith can light a big expanse of territory if it isn't hidden by bitterness and gloom.

Third, hobbies are good medi-tine for the unhappy. But I would add what a distinguished neurologist tells his patients. "Find a hobby and be sure it isn't a purely selfish hobby. You can't get the best results thinking about yourself, acquiring something for yourself."

It comes to me with renewed force all the while: Life goes on just as it has always gone on. There's as much beauty and interest and happiness and thrill in it as there ever was. But it is our awareness of these things, our ability to appropriate them that counts. The sun rises and sets in glory. The grass and women rise to heroic heights. Vitamin D Treatments Show Best Results By Dr. William Brady, One thing that becomes more and more obvious as the spirit of medical ethics recoils before the machinations of the politicians who have gained control of the A. M. A. is the exploitation of medical societies and medical This racket has attained such development in recent years that one can no longer rely on the reports made through the medical society meetings or the current medical journals. It is necessary o sift everything carefully in order to determine how much self-exploitation on the part of the doctor announcing the discovery has to do with it and how much the commercial aspect of the in-troduction of the treatment may be concerned

Sometimes one can get a modi-cum of uncensored, unbiased information directly or pri-ately by personal communication with the doctor whose experience qualifier him to judge the value of treatment.

Such a physician in charge of the arthritis ward in a large hos-pital sees 600 arthritis patients a year. He has had considerable experience with sulfur compounds, vaccines, bee venom, serums, various salts that have been promoted as efficacious, and the massive dose vitamin D treatment. He has obtained the best results with the nassive dose vitamin D treatment. Patients receiving this treatment take a minimum of 200,000 units of vitamin D daily the first month of witamin D in oil, or four capsules each containing 50,000 units. Some other methods of treatment are thus judged by H. M. Margolis, M. D. and V. W. Eisenstein, M. D., of Pittsburgh:

Coloidal sulfur ale and without effect. Vaccines - apparently losing Fever therapy - results only transitory.

Sulfanilamide — condemned for use in arthritis.

Gold salts—promising but at present dangerous. These physicians conclude there is no royal road to the successful treatment of arthritis. A well-rounded medical management, tempered with sound clinical judgment, must still prevail as the best therapeu-

Harry is twenty years older!" Visit to Brooklyn Housing Project

By Eleanor Roosevelt.

"Certainly, I'm marrying Harry! Jack has more money, but-

NEW LONDON, Conn.-Yesterday afternoon I visited the Red Hook Housing Project in Brooklyn, N. Y., and enjoyed seeing the various apartments and having the opportunity to talk with some of the people living there. Of course, the ultimate object of any housing project is to have satisfied tenants. Our first visit was to an apartment with two bedrooms, kitchen, sitting room and bath. The young couple had two children and the wife's mother with them. The man is a longshoreman with only intermittent days of work. The girl seemed proud and happy and she had acquired many possessions which she showed me with pride. Her mother brought out a plate of little cakes and some little glasses and poured out some home-made wine which she offered to us all. We drank to their health and happiness and we wished for them the steady job on which so much depends. Little enough to ask of life and yet often impossible to attain

Our next family was in a larger three-bedroom, sitting room. kitchen and bath apartment. They had four children and the man was on WPA. Our last apartment was one of the very small onebedroom, sitting room, kitchen and bath type. The young couple who lived there, had had the sad experience of losing their first baby, but the young woman's mother, who was visiting her, told me happily what a change this new apartment made in her life.

These apartments seemed to me very well planned. All of them have eliminated unnecessary doors. The kitchen, for instance, has no door, neither has the living room. The bedroom, bathroom and one closet have doors. The other closets are recessed with curtains The landscaping around the houses is attractive, and scattered around the project are eight small playgrounds for children. This is in a part of Brooklyn where Park Commissioner Robert Moses has built one of the best swimming pools I have ever seen and which was being used to full capacity yesterday. Near by, there is also a great deal of play space for older children in a park area. One feature which is particularly interesting, is the placing of the commuity house in one corner of the project. Here it is available not only to those living on the project, but to the neighborhood all around it.

As is so often the case, before anyone moved in, there were innumerable stories spread about the restrictions put on the individuals and the rules and regulations which would govern everybody's daily existence. It is easy to spread this sort of rumor when something new is being done. As a result, the tenants came very largely from Manhattan and now the people near by see "foreigners from Manhattan" living in better quarters, which they might well have occupied themselves. I hope that some day everyone can live in quarters which are as pleasant as these, if for no reason than that it will cost the taxpayers less and that the next generation will

We left Brooklyn at 4:40 and drove to Westbrook, Conn., to dine and spend the night with our friends, Miss Esther Lape and Miss Elizabeth Read. The Merritt parkway makes a difference in the time this drive consumes and we were here by 8 o'clock. After an early lunch today, we shall drive on to Boston, where I hope to reach the hospital when Johnny returns from work, so he can show me their new baby. Jerome Shows Good Control; Uses Sidearm Delivery Throughout.

By BOB McCALL.
TULSA, Okla., June 9.—(AP)—
Jerome "Dizzy" Dean, using his bat as well as his new sidearm slinging, celebrated his return to the Texas League today by winning his first ball game for Tulsa.

Dean singled solidly in the ninth to get on base and then made his way across the home plate with the winning run on two successive bobbles by Fort Worth, giving Tulsa a 5-to-4 victory.

The tall righthander who asked to be returned to the Texas League in the hope sun would sear life into his spongy arm, yielded six hits, but two of them were home

Old Diz showed near perfect control and shot over more fast balls than had generally been expected, making his change of pace more effective.

Most Unusual LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 9.-Atlanta and Knoxville Saturday played the most unusual game President Earl Mann, Manager Paul Richards and all the ball players involved ever saw. It was a game that might well go down in the records as one of the most unusual ever played. The game produced a home run with none on, a home run with one on, a home run with two on and a home run with the bases loaded.

They didn't quite come in order. Lukon hit one for Knoxville in the second with none on. Then in the sixth Tom Hafey hit one with two on and Burge followed with one with a mate on ahead of him. Hafey hit his second homer with the bases loaded in the ninth.

It makes no difference about the order, however, for the string of unusual homers, plus five straight Cracker double plays, sets the Knoxville-Atlanta game of June 8, 1940, apart.

I have never before heard of a game like it and there may never be another. The odds are heavy against such a combination of home runs and double plays in a single game.

Oh, well, it's an unusual season anyway. I just happened to recall a golf story related recently by Tom Kinney, of Covington.

What's the Answer? This foursome started out one afternoon on the course at Covington and was doing all right until one of them hit a shot in the rough on a short hole.

Searching for the hall, this fellow discovered a big snake in the act of swallowing it. Well, sir, he grabbed a club and chased the snake on the green. He whacked away and the snake yielded the ball about four feet from the pin. Then this fellow removed the snake and calmly proceeded to sink the putt. He claimed a deuce.

That was when the argument started. "What about the strokes it took to kill the snake?" His partner asked.

"We'll have to count those, too."

I am sure this story must be true as Tom Kinney would not have told it otherwise and also that Com Calloway, a member of the foresome, would be no party to such a fraud.

Another Story And there was the conversation of the two traveling salesmen and the charming redhead on the train traveling to Memphis.

The young lady was telling them of an experience at the recent 500-mile race at Indianapolis.

A friend, she said, gave her a chamelon, and she was impressed by how it changed colors. "It crawled on the shoulder of my dress and turned blue. And once it got in my hair and turned red. "I don't see anything unusual about that," one of the T. S.

"If I got in your hair I'd turn red, too. "Yeh, and if you did," his companion replied, "I'd turn

Some Hours They say you can't beat "them hours," speaking of baseball, but sometimes I wonder if the fans really know what ball players have to go

For instance, the Crackers spent 16 hours on an airconditioned train traveling from Knoxville to Little Rock.

They arrived here in 95-degree weather and only had time enough to check their bags before going to the park to dress, take a short practice and plunge into a doubleheader.

This sort of thing is wearing, both mentally and physically. A few errors could be excused under the circumstances.

No Luck Just when it appeared that the Crackers had the necessary balance to make a serious drive toward first place, Willard Marshall, a spark plug of the attack, was cut down by injury Marshall had been playing brilliant ball. His hitting, of course, was exceptional, but he also stood out

He almost tore the left field fence down at Knoxville to make a catch and escaped injury. Today his foot caught in the third base bag and he had to be carried off the field. Marshall's loss for a period of 10 days comes at a time when the Crackers need his punch and may seriously set the club back.

It certainly hurts the balance. Marshall himself, was unwilling to accept the doctor's estimate of the number of days he must stay out of the lineup.

"It (the ankle) isn't giving me any pain and I hope to be back in there in a week," he said. The youngster has been set back twice before this season.

He left spring training camp with a bad leg and later was out for a week with a bruised hand.

VICTOR AND VANQUISHED-CLEVELAND, June 9.-With his arm around Gene Sarazen and the cup in his hand, Lawson Little faced the cheering crowd at Canterbury and the big-money year for a pro golfer today. He had just shot a 70 to beat Sarazen's 73 and win the National Open Championship.

Ex-Amateur King's Great Recovery Shots Prove Decisive Margin.

By AL SHARP.

CANTERBURY COUNTRY CLUB, CLEVELAND.-June 9 .-Lawson Little, the 29-year-old former king of the amateurs, beat Gene Sarazen by three strokes this morning in the 18-hole playoff for the national title.

Little, who has had rough sled-ding since he joined the pro ranks five years ago, shot a brilliant two-under-par 70 on a course softened by last night's downpour. In scoring a 73, Sarazen failed to take full advantage of two chip shots which found the cup for birdies and a 50-foot putt that dropped for an eagle.

Little also got some breaks, one coming on the ninth hole where his drive struck a tree deep in the rough and bounced into the fair-

But Little had the recovery shots when he wasn't knocking the ball straight and true.

In the long run, that was the answer to why he whipped the 38-year-old Conecticut squire who was the favorite, for neither played string-straight golf.

POPULAR VICTORY. It was a popular victory with the well-behaved gallery of some 5,000 fans, a contrast to the walking riot of yesterday. Little, who scored "a little slam" with four straight victories in the British and American amateur championships in 1934 and 1935, had never come close to the open title. He did not finish in the first 30 last year and had to qualify for this tournament. Incidentally, he led the nation's qualifying with a 134 at Chicago.

The winner of this championship and many others, including the British Open, Sarazen putted his way to a tie with Little at 287 yesterday afternoon.

This morning his putter came to life once for the 50-foot eagle and his chipper took over where the putter quit. Still Saraz couldn't stand the subpar pace.

Yards All A-Clatter as Ships Are Rushed

TEN THOUSAND TOILERS labor on a 16-hour daily schedule at these Newport News shippards.

Many ships are under construction, others under repair. The Navy keeps a crew of officers here to direct building and overhauling of naval vessels.

'MINUTE-MEN' MARSHALED Canada, as a nation at war, is taking no chances with "fifth columnists." These grim members of the Essex Tank Regiment have their machinegun unlimbered, ready on the instant to cope with any emergency.

EAGLE EYES search an American auto which has just crossed into Canada from the United States. It's all part of Canada's precautions against the "fifth column" threat. Mounties, such as the one watching the inspector here, keep a strict watch on the border.

HOMEWARD BOUND. A weary day behind them, some of the 10,000 workers in Newport News ship-yards trudge homeward. With ship construction booming, new buildings are soaring to take care of production, and new housing quarters are sought.

SWIFTLY, EFFICIENTLY the Essex Tank Regiment will roll into action if "fifth columnists" should threaten Canada. Here's how its members would set up their weapons to repel any "fifth column" attempt to shatter their homeland by armed might.

MAKE MOTORS PURR

Balky engines are no mystery to these CCC students, who're shown reassembling crankshaft and connecting rods after an overhaul in a CCC repair shop at

SHAKE ON IT CCC Director James McEntee shakes with Enrollee Harry Conbrey, who demonstrated a reconditioned tractor at the central repair shop at Salem, Va., one of a proposed chain.
